Help

How to use the "Deutscher Tropentag 1999" CD-ROM

The files on the CD-ROM are stored in "Portable Document Format" (PDF). To make use of these files, you have to install "Acrobat Reader 4.0" software, which you can download from CD-ROM.

Some special remarks about navigation on the CD-ROM:

• Green coloured words are links to pages on this CD-ROM.
• Blue coloured words are links to internet-homepages. If such a link to an URL shall become followed, in addition to the Acrobat Reader an internet browser has to be installed on the computer. Furthermore there the PC must be connected to the world wide web via a network or directly. It depends on the configuration of the browser, whether this connection is created automatically or whether it has to be created manually before starting the browser (= following the link).

Go back
To go back to the page you visited directly before, you should click the Acrobat Reader black arrow to the left ("Go to Previous view"). The "back" arrows on the pages mostly lead to the main page of the respective chapter or to the speech before. If you want to get back to the menu from a special paper you have to click on the respective words on the left hand frame.

Further information and impressum